

Operational Storage

Northern Natural Gas Company ("NNG") owns and manages operational storage inventory. This storage inventory is used to balance the daily operation of the pipeline system and to support the requirements associated with resolving imbalances, scheduling tolerances, no-notice service and managing system balances. Due to long-term Operational Storage requirements and to manage storage field inventories, NNG may at times solicit offers from parties for the purchase or sale of firm physical natural gas as needed.

Solicitations may be made by phone or instant message to one of the individuals listed below. All parties submitting offers must be creditworthy and have a NAESB base sales and purchase agreement with NNG by the date of gas nomination. All transactions are firm and are subject to the liabilities for non-performance stated in the NAESB agreement in Section 3, Performance Obligation. NNG reserves the right to reject any and all offers.
